Better Than Other Salts

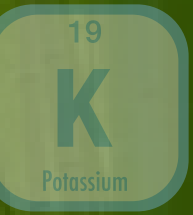

Free of toxins

Due to the pollution of our earth and its waters, many salts contain contaminants such as microplastics and heavy metals including lead, cadmium, mercury, and arsenic. Consumption of these heavy metals have detrimental health effects. The production process of bamboo salt removes these toxins because the high temperature in which it's heated results in the evaporation of heavy metals, micro-plastics, and other harmful compounds.

Free of toxins

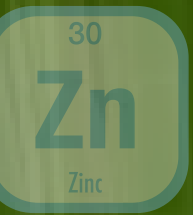

Bamboo salt contains 70+ bioactive minerals such as K, P, Ca, Mg, Si, Fe, Cu, Ba, V, Mn, Zn, Ge, Mo, Se, Pt, S, Sr, B, Li, which are essential for the production and activation of enzymes and biological activities. In fact, bamboo salt has a chemical composition that is very similar to that of our bodies!

Highly alkaline

Bamboo salt is highly alkaline with a 10.10 pH (foods greater than 7 are considered alkaline) for grey salt and a 11.5 pH for purple bamboo salt. The salt's high pH neutralizes acidic food and its alkali-forming mineral composition has an alkalizing effect on of the body.

Suppress fungal and bacterial growth.	On top of that, clinical studies have shown that Bamboo Salt can prevent Salmonella infection. This unique property is a contribution from the bamboo trunks.
Majority made by water and positively charged.	Made by fire and negatively charged. This negative charge aids in fighting against the allergens in the environment.
Causing hypertension.	Does not induce hypertension (Kim, Yong-Sick, et. al., 2013). Researchers suggest that it may be linked with its ability to improve glucose tolerance of the body and lowers the serum lipid level.
